

APPENDIX A
WEB SITE SCREENSHOTS

NET NEUTRALITY — IS ON TRIAL: HELP DEFEND IT —

The big cable companies are back — and this time they're going through the courts to try to kill the Net Neutrality rules we won earlier this year. Activists are filing a "People's Brief" in a few days to make sure that the court understands just how important Net Neutrality is: Click here to read the brief, and add your name below to sign on.

 Share

 Tweet

 Email

URGENT: SIGN THE PEOPLE'S BRIEF

Your name	Email
Street address	Zip code

- I have read the brief, agreed with its arguments, and wish to be included among those on whose behalf the brief is submitted. I am a citizen or legal permanent resident of the United States, who is 18 years of age or older.
- I consent to receiving emails from participating orgs.

Disclaimer: The version of the Net Neutrality brief available on this website is a substantively final draft, subject to proofreading and/or minor or technical changes before filing. By submitting this form, you swear or affirm that the information that you provided is true and correct and you acknowledge that you will be added as a signatory to the official amicus brief referred to on the page as the 'Net Neutrality Brief.' You give the authors of the brief and their attorneys permission to publish your name in official court filings with the U.S. Court of Appeals for the District of Columbia Circuit and also in any promotion of 'the Net Neutrality Brief' that may be circulated publicly.

SEND NOW

A third-party consultant will help us manage data collected from this campaign.

The big cable companies are back — and this time they're going through the courts to try to kill the Net Neutrality rules we won earlier this year. Activists are filing a "People's Brief" in a few days to make sure that the court understands just how important Net Neutrality is: Click here to read the brief, and add your name below to sign on.

SPREAD THE WORD.

SHARE THIS PAGE!

Without Net Neutrality, the big cable companies would control the Internet, and make it harder for us to access information that doesn't align with what's best for the companies' bottom lines or that disagrees with their political leanings. If Net Neutrality weren't the norm, we might even have been blocked from engaging in the online activism that helped secure the Net Neutrality rules that we're now working to defend!

Help us share this action with as many people as possible!

DAILY KOS

WATCHDOG.NET